SABBATH SCHOOL EXCURSION .- The Subbath Schools connected with the Methodist societies of Winooski, and this place had their excursion Thurslay, in spite of the storm. The school from the Falls, under the charge of Mr. Gay, numbering with children, teachers and parents, some two hundred, came over in the morning, and the Burlington schools, under the charge of their Superintendents, Mesers. Bass and S. Huntington, turned out some four hundred strong. The steamer Boston, which had been climitered for the occasion, proved not to be capacions enough to carry all, used the services of the Montreal were called in. The excursion was to Plattsburgh, where they left the boats, marched to the Railroad Depot, and put to good use the refreshments which they carried with them, after which they took boats again and returned home in the afternoon.

Though the steady rain was a considerable draw-back on the pleasure of the day, the children extracted much enjoyment from their ride and the occasion; and all passed off without accident.

THE FRAZER RIVER EXCITABLEST APPEARS OF continue in California; but some contradic tory accounts begin to make their appearance. Some who have been there even pronounce the whole affair a " grand humbug." The fact that gold is found in considerable quantities on Frazer River, is settled beyond question. Whether it pays for the trouble of going after it, is another question.

In Burlington the few hours afforded, upon the return, for rambling, were well improved, and the shuded retreats and buildings of College street were visited and admired. Burlington presents to the visited and admired. Burlington presents to the visitor one marked contrast to every either art of the State, viz.: Her wealth is lavished upon fine residences, as if each builder was helically trying to out-do his neighbor, instead of upon any very fine public buildings, stores or improvements for the general benefit of the town. (The new custom house even is no ornament, and who could imagine that it cost one hundred thousand dollars.) The consequence is, the wealth is unavailable, and the owners of these fine residences, costing fits or seventy-five thousand dollars each, are bankrupts. We have before pr. tested against any such extra-vagance, or such aristocratic pretensions.

Our readers will smile with us at the ridiculous air of superiority which sticks out of this precious piece of blundering impertinence. It is simply the talk of a man who knows nothing of what he is talking about, and it is, therefore, not worth while to make the re-joinder suggested by the peculiar way in which Montpelier lavishes wealth on fine publie buildings, stores and improvements," or | day the 28th

We cannot help thinking that the shifting of the calle of the Agameunon and the ne-cessary overhauling to which it was subject-ed, had semething to do with the final fracture, as it will be seen in the seemil that the break occurred just after this main deck coil had been ran off and the vessel was drawing from the mass in the hold. It is fair to presume that the cable was weakened by being shifted or in the subsequent over-

The first splice was made between the Niagara and Agamemon on the morning of Saturday, the 25th of June, and after each ship had payed out about three miles the able broke on board the Niagara, owing to its overriding and getting off the pully leading on to the machine. Both vessels put about and returned, a fresh splice was made, and again lowered at half-past seven. The paying out proceeded beautifully until early Sunday morning. The writer says:

"At half-past three 49 miles had gone, and thing could be more perfect and regular than the tooking of everything, when suddenly, at 3.49 A. on deek, and reported a total break of continuity; that the cable, in fact, had parted, and, as was believed at the time, from the Niagara. It was hard work beating upagainst the wond; so hard, indeed, that it was not till noon of Mon-day, the 20th, that we rejoined the Niagara; and, ing after it, is another question.

Mr. Lincoln invited Senator Depot as to planting with patience for her explanation of how she broke the cable, she electrification of how she action of how she saturating as soon as the beats could be lowered. Mr. Cyrus Field, with the electricians from the Niagara, came on board, and a comparison of logs showed the painful and mystorious fact, that at the same associated that a tetral consents, however, to hold seven joint meetconsents, however, to hold seven joint meetings—one in each Congressional District, where neither has yet spoken.
